

Blowing in

BRIGHTON three-piece Anemo bring their eclectic sounds to the Loft next Thursday.

The venue, above The Graduate pub on Mitcham's Corner, will play host to up and comers who have already been taken to the bosoms of US college radio stations. With metal guitars, Chrissie Hynde-style female vocals and a few drum loops thrown in for good measure, the band are building up their profile ahead of a debut single next month. Entry is £4 on the door.
