ANEMO - Made Of Fiction

Following Stateside college success, Brighton three piece Anemo release their first single on home soil on 14 August preceding their debut album Slowdown which will follow in early September.

And it's a corker - gentle piano and Hazelle Woodhurst's superb vocals are blasted apart by a thunderous dance floor rock beat that would grace a Mission Impossible soundtrack in a number aimed squarely at claiming the goth pop/rock crown.

It's a tremendous track - great vocals, a driving beat, and wonderful hooks. And it's no one-shot, the b-side Fallout Renegade is equally infectious. As is a stunning acoustic version of the same track which is thrown in for good measure. In the absence of any new material from Evanescence, watch out for Anemo - the usurpers are about to claim the crown. *****
