Anemo

Single - Made Of Fiction

Play 90 second soundbite of 'Made Of Fiction' @ 'CD quality'

'Made Of Fiction' / 'Fallout Renegade' from Anemo is a great sounding release. Commercial, very 'now' rock at its classy yet raunchy best!!

Anemo, surprisingly, are just a trio. Their sound is one of a much bigger unit; full and energetic and, I have to say, made fuller by the addition of a guest drummer! Like a modern day Renaissance and an electro influenced Evanescence, Anemo blast their toons with a somewhat classical bias. Comprising simply keyboards, bass and vocals, Anemo sound totally on the ball. Their songs are uncluttered but retain a punchy vibe that's pretty awesome. Both tracks here could easily take pride of place as the 'A' side - both are cutting-edge, both superbly assembled and performed. There's a superb clarity to their work which allows the listener to get into their jet-stream, drink in the fumes of their explosive attack and really enjoy the slick and professional attitude. And, just when you think you've got their stylee nailed they come back at you with an great little acoustic mix of 'Fallout Renegade' to show exactly where they're at, unplugged and totally stripped down - excellent!!

For me, Anemo have got exactly what it takes and this excellent single is capable of taking them to a higher place. I understand that a full-blown album is imminent - one to watch out for without a doubt.

'Made Of Fiction' - Stunning!! Anemo - could be big!!
